

A script from

“Bread”

by
Rachel Carrozziere

- What We need to eat to live, but what if we only ate when we had time or it was convenient? Would we starve? In this analogy, a girl finds herself hungry but with a lot of excuses as to why she hasn't eaten yet. Themes: Quiet time, Bible, Scripture, Spending time with God, Spiritual food
- Who Actor
- When Present
- Wear (Props) This script takes place in a coffee shop or bakery.
Bible on a counter in the "bakery"
- Why Joshua 1:8; 1 Peter 2:2
- How When you rehearse this, have someone reading the implied lines so you can know how to respond to the questions being asked.
- Time Approximately 1-2 minutes

Words in italics and bold are implied. They are written so the Actor knows what he/she is supposed to respond to.

Actor: May I have a piece of bread?

This?

Yup that piece right there. I'm starving.

Why?

Because I haven't eaten all day.

Why?

I've been busy.

Why?

I don't know. Life just gets busy. (Pause) I didn't have time.

Time?

I didn't have time earlier.

But you do now?

Well, no, I don't have a lot of time now, but...I need to eat something.

Why?

Ummm I have to eat, because I have things to do.

ENDING:

No, I haven't eaten yet today.

Why?

I was too busy living to eat.

But you need to eat to live?

"Bread"

Yes, I need to eat to live. (Pause) May I have a piece of bread? (Picks up Bible) Thank you.

Lights out. The end.
