

“God Bless You, Mom”

by Andrew Kooman

What Every mom is different, but each one is an incredible blessing that needs to be celebrated. This touching and heartfelt Readers Theater is designed to be read by kids in service to bless and celebrate their moms.

Themes: Mother’s Day, Motherhood, Blessing, Thanks, Children, Reader’s Theatre

Who Kid readers of any age (that can read) from 6 to 17 yrs old. Depending on what best fits your congregation, you can have 1 child read the entire script or divide the stanzas among different readers. Note: This script is written for 5 readers, but any combination will do. Example: 1 child reads all 10 stanzas
2 children read 5 stanzas each
5 children read 2 stanzas each
Or, any other combination that you desire!

When Present, Mother’s Day

Wear Church clothes that make a mamma proud.

Why Psalm 136

How The readers can stand in a row on the platform, each with an index card with their stanza attached. If desired, each child can hold a rose or a tulip and once they finish their reading, they can step from the platform and give the flower to their mom or a mom in the audience.

If you want to involve more kids from the church, once the reading is complete, other kids from the congregation (who did not read) can also hand out flowers to mothers in the audience.

Time Approximately 2 minutes

Readers address the audience.

Reader 1: God bless you, mom for your kindness every day, your first thoughts for your family love and compassion as your way

Reader 2: God bless you, mom for all the things that you do the meals, the hugs and kisses teaching us to tie our shoes

Reader 3: God bless the mom with a career outside the home you're like a superhero wherever that you roam

Reader 4: God bless the mom who chooses to stay at home the countless things you do each day could fill a stadium-sized tome

Reader 5: God bless you, mom for the ways you put family first soccer games and car rides all our things you carry in your purse

Reader 1: God bless you, mom for faithfully bringing us to church you live in a way that shows a life for God is a life of worth

Reader 2: God bless you, mom for the songs you sing us at night when you sing and when you worship you show us what is right

Reader 3: God bless you, mom for all the time you spend in prayer you sow so many seeds of faith that are blossoming everywhere

Reader 4: God bless you, mom for the ways you live out your faith we are all first-hand witnesses of the difference that it makes

Reader 5: God bless you, mom words can't express our love for all your amazing qualities we thank our God above

Reader 1: A mother is a gift from God each one designed in a special way From the bottom of all our hearts we wish you a very:

All: Happy Mother's Day!
